on May 24th To Benefit Local Architectural Students

Thank you to all of our sponsors, players and dinner guests who made this event so successful. Thanks also goes out to Ron Franke, AIA and Tony Gambino, Diener Brick Company (Affiliate member) for all their work in organizing the tournament.

A Message from Our President

This summer is shaping up to be one of the hottest in recent memory. For many AIA members the introduction to the heat began in early June in Miami, Florida at the National Convention. CEU's and vendors were abundant. AIA New Jersey was supporting the nomination of David Del Vecchio as Secretary. David's support of AIA is no secret to AIA New Jersey members. David has devoted countless hours to the advocacy of the profession as the Regional Director, AIA NJ President, and AIA Newark and Suburban President. These positions are in addition to being a trustee or board members of several state and national committees. David's campaign came up a little short as Helene Combs Dreiling was elected as Secretary. AIA WJ will continue to support David in future campaigns should he choose to make another run at a national position. On behalf of AIA WJ I would like to thank David for all of his efforts.

Taking a break from the heat members, vendors, and consultants from the AIA West Jersey region participated in the 24th annual AIA West Jersey Golf Tournament at Medford Village Country Club on Monday May 24th. Despite a brief shower the event was fantastic. The event would not have been possible without efforts of the two committee chairs- Ron Franke, AIA and Tony Gambino. I'd like to thank Ron and Tony for the time and effort they have once again devoted to this outing. The course was beautiful and challenging. We will once again be able to have the Student Design Awards in 2011. I am already looking forward to the silver anniversary 25th Annual AIA West Jersey Golf Tournament.

Two weeks prior to the AIA WJ Golf Tournament we held our May membership meeting at Café Aldo Lamberti's in Cherry Hill. To say this event was well attended would be an understatement. I would like to thank all that attended for making the event one of my most memorable membership meetings. The staff was kept busy looking for chairs to bring into the room as we continued to fill table after table. Attendee's were given short speeches by Laurence Parisi and Joyce Raspa Gore (both running for President Elect) as well as Clair Wholean who was running uncontested for Regional Associate Director. Following the candidate speeches were two topical and informative presentations. Rob Austin from DCA made a presentation illustrating the upcoming changes to the NJ edition of the IBC should the governor put the new code into effect. Rob was informative and knowledgeable of the code often citing related codes and section numbers from memory. We look forward to future presentations from Rob. In addition to Rob Austin's presentation Tony Catana made an extremely educational presentation of the upcoming IGCC. We look forward to the implementation of both codes in the future.

June marked the first meeting of local interns and associate members at the Cherry Hill Library. There were 10 attendees in addition to the AIA WJ staff. We found ourselves limiting the discussion on many topics due to time constraints. The first meeting provided a strong base to build from. One topic that was of significant interest to the participants was the A.R.E., especially in the new 4.0 format. As a result of this interest AIA West Jersey will be making a purchase of a new 4.0 format set of study guides. The study guides will be donated to a local library to be held in the reference section. The study guides would be available to anyone (member or non member) to use while at the library. We are also accepting study material donations from members. The next meeting will be held at the Cherry Hill Library on Kings Highway on July 31st at 9:00 AM.

On June 12th AIA West Jersey volunteers assisted the Heart of Camden with construction of their new performing arts center. There will be another opportunity to volunteer with the installation of theater seats on July 31st, 9:00am-noon.

We are going to be holding our annual Phillies night at the ballpark in August. Tickets are still available for Thursday August 19th against the San Francisco Giants. Come see former Phillies Pat Burrell and Aaron Rowand in their return to Citizens Bank Park. The ticket pre-sale is over. Tickets are available in unlimited quantities for $25 each. Contact Dave Lummis (856-428-8877) for order information.

The fall calendar is filling up quickly. We will be having our general membership meeting at Fessenden Hall in Pennsauken on September 21st. We will have a presentation on indoor air quality along with other related topics. AIA New Jersey is holding East Coast Green in Atlantic City, NJ on September 16-17. For more information go to <http://www.aia-nj.org/ECG/>. Submissions for the annual photo competition are due on August 4th. You can go to <http://aiawestjersey.org/?p=230> for more information. We are rounding out the fall calendar with a special visit to the National Constitution Center in Philadelphia, PA. We have arranged for a behind the scenes tour of the building provided by someone involved with the construction of the building. We will also be given the general tour of the building. More information to follow.

I am proud to introduce a new award to be presented at the AIA West Jersey Inaugural. The passing of local architect Malcolm Wells has inspired the creation of the Malcolm Wells Sustainability Award. The award is open to AIA West Jersey members in good standing who promote sustainable design. Nomination forms will be available on the AIA West Jersey website shortly (www.aiawestjersey.org).

As fall approaches we are once again looking for volunteers to join the AIA West Jersey Executive Board. This fall the position of Secretary is open. Interested members can contact me at 856-428-8877 for further information.

Enjoy the remainder of your summer!

Sincerely,

William J Fearon, AIA
AIA West Jersey President

Community Service Project

Saturday Morning, June 12, 2010

AIA West Jersey held a Community Service Project at the Waterfront South Theater, Camden, N.J., on June 12th. The construction of this new 96 seat performing arts theater will help revitalize the Waterfront South area of Camden. Construction is almost complete. Volunteer's were needed to apply the finishes on the doors.

The Waterfront South Theater is a project of the Heart of Camden, a nonprofit community development organization dedicated to providing homeownership opportunities in the Waterfront South area of Camden. The project is also funded by Pepe Piperno and his Domenica Foundation, as well as through other generous donors.

The new theater will be the home of the South Camden Theatre Company, a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping revitalize the City of Camden by producing meaningful, professional theater in the City.

AIA WJ along with staff from Bayada Nurses met at 9:00 am and were finished by noon.

The next service project, involving the installation of the theater seats will be held on July 31st. Interns can earn community service credits that can be applied toward their IDP. Meet at the theater, located at the intersection of Jasper Street and South 4th Street in Camden at 9:00 am. Parking is available on the street.

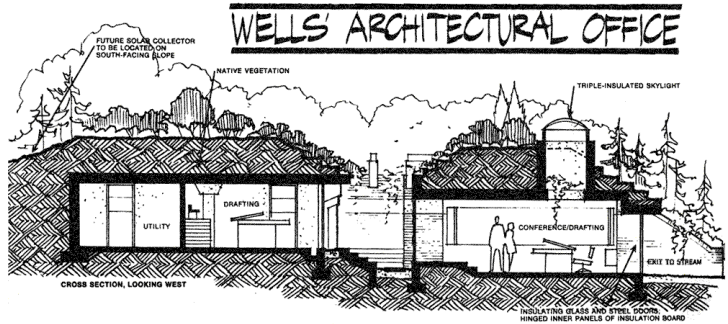

Please come out and support this worthwhile effort. Friends and families are welcome to join us. We hope to see you there.

West Jersey Announces Its Malcolm Wells Sustainability Award

AIA West Jersey will recognize members who promote sustainable design with a new award. The award will be named after South Jersey architect Malcolm Wells, who past away November 27, 2009. Mr. Wells was an iconic architect who tirelessly advocated environmentally responsible design long before the current emphasis on sustainability.

Appalled by the destructive footprint that buildings, roads and parking lots can leave on the earth, Mr. Wells was dedicated to what he called gentle architecture, something that would, as he put it, "leave the land no worse than you found it."

Writing in Architectural Digest in 1971, he set forth fifteen goals that he said all new buildings should strive to meet. Among them were to use and store solar energy, to consume their own waste, to provide wildlife habitat and human habitat, and to be beautiful.

To that end, his designs incorporated the land. He designed earth sheltered projects that burrowed into hillsides, and others whose main living space was subterranean, perhaps with above-ground lean-to roofs or atria and skylights to let in the sun.

Mr. Wells, who wrote a number of books, including "Gentle Architecture" (1981), "Infra Structures" (1994) and "Recovering America" (1999), taught environmental design at Harvard in the mid-1970s and lectured at other architecture schools through the 1980s.

The purpose of the award is to recognize members of AIA West Jersey for their commitment to sustainability in the built environment. The award shall be made to an individual AIA West Jersey member; not for a specific project, not to a company or firm, and not to a material product or system.

The criteria to be considered for the award are as follows:

1. Nominees shall be a current member in good standing of AIA West Jersey. Members of the Review Committee are not eligible to receive the award while they are on the committee.

2. The nominee shall be able to demonstrate their commitment to sustainability in the built environment. This may take any number of forms, including, but not limited to:

1. Design of a sustainable project (LEED or non-LEED). The nominee must describe the design process and how their particular efforts made the project more sustainable. Consideration will be given to built and non-built projects or projects submitted to a design competition. Projects where the client had initiated the sustainable requirements will be given less significance.

1. Education. Nominee shall have taught a course on sustainable design, presented a series of seminars, written a published article, or otherwise furthered the importance of sustainability to the architectural profession or the public.

2. Living Example: Nominee shall demonstrate that they live a more sustainable life, in their home life, and business; and that they shared their experiences with others as to further the awareness of the importance of sustainability.

1. It is the responsibility of the nominee to demonstrate their commitment to sustainability, and to promote and encourage other members to participate as well.

Nominations: The application for the award will be available from AIA West Jersey's website after July 15, 2010. Applications should include photographs, drawings, testimonials, course syllabus, or other supporting documentation to provide the Review Committee with the information they need to review the nomination. Contact/Reference names and information shall be provided by the applicant so that the Review Committee can verify aspects of the application.

The deadline for nominations shall be November 1, 2010. Applications shall be submitted via mail, or e-mail to:

Robert W. O'Reilly, AIA WJ Vice President

Arch Design Architects, Inc.

597 Deer Road

Cherry Hill, NJ 08034

Phone: 856-857-9408

Fax: 856-857-1739

E-mail: bob.oreilly@ArchArchitects.com

The applications will be reviewed by the Malcolm Wells Sustainability Award Review Committee. Notification of award will be made to the recipient by December 15, 2010. A single award may be made each year. AIA West Jersey reserves the right not to make an award. The recipient and a guest will be invited as guests to the AIA West Jersey Inaugural Banquet, which will be held on January 29, 2011. The award will be presented at the Inaugural Banquet.

BIM Executive Briefing for Architects and Engineers

Come Join Us in Philadelphia, PA

You've heard about BIM — what next?

Questions about BIM are sweeping the industry:

- Can the technology improve my business processes?
How do I integrate BIM into my existing Bid process?
What do I need to change to improve my bottom line?
- I want to start using BIM but I don't have the skill set in-house. Do I need to hire additional staff?
- Does the platform matter? US Army Corps uses MicroStation® but the Architects I bid use Revit® — which do I choose?

Who should attend?

- Project Architects
- Project Managers
- Project Engineers
- Business Development
- CEOs
- VP's

Join us at a local iBIM Executive Briefing and learn how BIM can work for you.
